

Brett M. Crist

President

BCrist@PreferredImaging.com

Brett is a co-owner of Preferred Imaging, which was incorporated in May of 1999. Brett has the singular focus of customer satisfaction as the highest priority. Brett believes this begins with the initial meeting with the client and making sure they understand their ultimate goal(s) when implementing a document management project.

Brett has over 10 years experience working with attorneys and paralegals while assisting them in developing the best strategy to handle their matter-related documents. Preferred Imaging has worked with over 80 law firms nation-wide involving small civil cases, local business transactions, multi-district litigation and class-action suits. Brett has presented training courses at over 25 law firms ranging from litigation software to trial presentation software. In 2004, Brett established the Indiana Summation User-Group that meets once per month and discusses the various functionality with Summation and any related 3rd party application.

In 2003, Brett began trial consulting for law firms. His expertise in this area includes pre-trial consulting, courtroom design and setup, demonstrative creation and on-site technology support during trial. As of January, 2006, Brett is the only person in the state of Indiana that is certified in TrialDirector Suite 4.5.

Brett has previously spoken to the National Federation of Paralegal Associations and the Indiana Paralegal Association regarding the use of technology during the litigation and trial process.

Prior to establishing Preferred Imaging, Brett worked for a national document management company, ImageMax, and held multiple positions including Consulting Services Manager and then Director of Sales & Technology. Brett also worked at CMG Worldwide, Inc., the largest organization representing the families of deceased celebrities, as an Account Executive and then the Director of Information Technology.

Brett graduated from DePauw University (Greencastle, IN) with a Bachelors of Arts Degree in Communication in May of 1991. While at DePauw, Brett played basketball for four years and was honored as the ICAC Player of the year, three-time 1st team all-conference and two-time all-american.

Brett currently resides in Cicero, Indiana with his wife, Kimberly, and two children, Hunter and Hannah.
